EVENTS/ WORKSHOPS

CAREER NIGHTS
WOOD WORKING WORKSHOPS
MOMS' NIGHT OUT
ORCHESTRA SUMMER CAMP
MORE TO COME ...

In addition to enrichment & extracurricular classes, Beyond the Books provides free workshops and community events open to all students, with evening scheduling to maximize accessibility. Our monthly Career Night introduces students to a variety of professions (September featured an electrician), while the Moms' Night Out events offer parents a supportive space to connect.

We also host a monthly woodworking workshop in partnership with the Nampa Public Library, which served 31 students and filled to capacity with a waiting list within two hours—demonstrating the strong demand for hands-on, skill-building opportunities.

A recent highlight was our Summer Orchestra Camp, which culminated in a Flag Day concert at the Idaho Veterans Home. Students not only strengthened their musical skills by learning and performing patriotic selections but also engaged in meaningful community service: tie-dyeing shirts, writing thank-you cards to veterans and transforming a broken violin into a painted art piece presented to the Veterans Home. The camp blended learning, creativity, and service, giving students an opportunity to grow while making a lasting impact on the community.

LOOKING AHEAD

OUR VISION FOR THE FUTURE

At Beyond the Books, we're always growing — creating new opportunities for students and families to learn, connect, and shine together. Here's a glimpse of what's ahead:

Expanding Our Class Offerings

We're developing even more engaging, community-centered classes, including:

- After school Spanish for Teens and Parents — learn side by side while connecting across generations.
- Mandarin Language Class — helping students explore new cultures and communication.
- Free Leadership Program — where teens will learn key leadership principles, then plan and host community events to practice their skills while giving back.

New Opportunities for Young Musicians

In the next year or two, we plan to launch an after school orchestra for students whose schools do not offer one — ensuring every young musician has a place to grow and perform.

Community Connections Through Music

Our musical programs continue to thrive! This season, we'll be performing the National Anthem at a College of Idaho basketball game, and we look forward to more opportunities to share music at community events throughout the Treasure Valley.
